Guide to the Fiscal Policies & Procedures Template

Establishing good fiscal policies and procedures is more of an investment of time and attention than money. Very small nonprofits or even all-volunteer groups can commit to the conversations and documentation needed to establish sound financial policies.

Specific policies and procedures vary widely depending on the organization's budget size, staffing, and business model. There is no "one size fits all" template that will work for all organizations. This guide offers a recommended structure for policies and procedures as well as some questions to guide you in considering what is best for your organization.

Why are fiscal policies and procedures important for nonprofits?

Maintaining meaningful and well-considered policies and procedures is a critical component of a strong financial management system. They are used to establish an organization's internal controls and for ensuring compliance with regulatory standards, as many nonprofit funders expect grantees to comply with specific policy and procedure guidelines. Documenting the organization's fiscal policies also serves as an important tool for clarifying roles and responsibilities and ultimately for ensuring that the organization's financial data is an accurate and reliable basis for organizational decision making.

The suggested policy and procedural guidelines contained in this template are designed to:

- Protect the assets of the organization;
- Ensure the maintenance of accurate records of the organization's financial activities;
- Provide a framework for the organization's financial decision making;
- Establish operating standards and behavioral expectations;
- Serve as a training resource for staff; and
- Ensure compliance with federal, state, and local legal and reporting requirements.

How is this document organized?

This document is organized into six sections, representing the significant components of a financial management system: Accounting Procedures, Internal Controls, Financial Planning & Reporting, Revenue/Accounts Receivable, Expense/Accounts Payable, and Asset Management. Suggested policy areas are included under each header. Most organizations will have at least some policies and procedures in each area, although not every policy included here will be relevant for every organization. Similarly, some organizations will need to insert additional policies that are specific to its area of work. Underneath each header is a section for both a broad policy statement and for the specific procedures related to implementing the policy.

The goal of this tool is to serve as a basic framework and a starting point for discussion. Although some sample policies are included, this document is designed primarily to be a conversation starter, with prompting questions included in each section. Effective fiscal policies and procedures drive out of three interrelated activities: 1) an informed discussion of the organization's potential areas of risk and system needs, 2) decision-making about an appropriate level of policies and procedures to address those risks and needs, and 3) documenting those decisions and revisiting them regularly.

Guide to the Fiscal Policies & Procedures Template

How should we use this document?

Do not feel that you must write a policy in each area. This is a framework to guide your thinking and discussion process. You only need to implement policies that make sense for your nonprofit, given the nature of your operations and extent of your resources available for financial systems. Start with the areas that present the most potential risk or confusion to the organization.

Some things to keep in mind throughout the process of discussion and documentation:

- Policies should be clearly documented and easily understood by individuals outside of the particular department or the organization;
- Write policies that you can realistically maintain given the organization's resources;
- Staff members involved in processes should be listed by job title;
- Agency forms relevant to the policy should be cited; and
- Relevant time frames should be indicated.

Who should be involved?

The most important part of developing policies and procedures is that they are discussed, agreed upon, and regularly reviewed by both the decision makers in an organization and by those who will be implementing them on a day-to-day basis. In most organizations this will be a combination of Board members (often delegated to a Finance Committee), management staff, and front line financial staff. How this process occurs can vary significantly depending on the size, structure, and culture of the organization.

In most cases, the high-level policy questions should be discussed between Board members and management staff. The full Board of Directors has ultimate approval of the broad policy decisions as recommended by this informed work group.

The day-to-day procedural steps are often best determined between management staff and front line financial staff. Together they are in the best position to determine the most efficient and effective ways to implement a given policy direction. The Board Finance Committee may serve as another set of eyes on the procedures to ensure that they adequately address the broad policy goal, but they often do not have the operational perspective needed to write them.

Ultimately the Executive Director has responsibility for administering the policies and ensuring compliance with the procedures once they have been approved by the Board of Directors. It is good practice to train staff regularly on the policies and procedures. This can often be done in conjunction with a review process, which should occur every two years at a minimum.

Accounting Procedures

This section covers basic accounting procedures for the organization. The accounting procedures used by the organization shall conform to Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) to ensure accuracy of information and compliance with external standards.

Basis of Accounting

SAMPLE Policy: The organization uses the accrual basis of accounting. The accrual basis is the method of accounting whereby revenue and expenses are identified with specific periods of time, such as a month or year, and are recorded as incurred. This method of recording revenue and expenses is without regard to date of receipt or payment of cash.

Definition: The accrual method allows for recording revenue and expenses when incurred. It eliminates the budget distortion of large advance payments, such as annual insurance premiums, etc. This method gives a more accurate picture when actual expenses are compared with budgeted amounts. It also eliminates the possibility of overlooking incurred but unpaid expenses when making budget projections.

SAMPLE Procedures:

- Throughout the fiscal year, expenses are accrued into the month in which they are incurred. The books are closed no later than the [DAY/WEEK] after the close of the month. Invoices received after closing the books will be counted as a current-month expense.
- At the close of the fiscal year, this rule is not enforced. All expenses that should be accrued into the prior fiscal year, are so accrued, in order to ensure that year-end financial statements reflect all expenses incurred during the fiscal year. Year-end books are closed no later than 90 days after the end of the fiscal year.
- Revenue is always recorded in the month in which it was earned or pledged.

Journal Entries

Questions to consider in developing Policy:

- For what type of transactions are Journal Entries posted?
- How often are they posted?

Definition: Journal entries are double entries in the accounting system (debit & credit) recording the business transactions of the organization.

Questions to consider in developing Procedures:

- Who is responsible for writing and posting Journal Entries?
- Who reviews them and when?
- How is approval documented?

Approved by the Board of Directors, DATE

Bank Reconciliations

SAMPLE Policy: All bank statements will be opened and reviewed in a timely manner. Bank reconciliation and approval will occur within 30 days of the close of the month.

Tip: When possible, someone other than the person posting transactions should reconcile bank accounts. Someone who doesn't reconcile should always review the reports.

SAMPLE Procedures:

- All bank statements and cancelled checks will be opened, reviewed and initialed by the Director of Operations upon receipt.
- Once reviewed, bank statements are submitted to the Office Manager for reconciliation.
- The Executive Director will review and approve reconciliation reports by signing and dating the report in the upper right hand corner.

Monthly Close

Questions to consider in developing Policy:

- When are books closed? (i.e. by the Xth of the following month)

Questions to consider in developing Procedures:

- What are the basic monthly steps involved in closing the books?
- Who is responsible for these monthly steps?
- Who oversees closing the books and ensures that these steps are completed?

Tip: A sample records retention policy is available at the CompassPoint web site under resources/downloads.

Recordkeeping

Questions to consider in developing Policy:

- What is the document retention policy (i.e. how long are specific documents maintained and where)?

Questions to consider in developing Procedures:

- How/where are accounting records kept? (locked file cabinet, e-files, etc.)
- How often is filing done and by whom?
- How often are financial records archived and/or shredded and by whom?

SAMPLE NPO FISCAL POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Approved by the Board of Directors, DATE

Tip: An internal control checklist is available at the CompassPoint web site under resources/downloads.

Internal Controls

The organization employs several safeguards to ensure that financial transactions are properly authorized, appropriated, executed and recorded.

Lines of Authority

Questions to consider in developing Policy:

- What is the level of authority for the Board, Executive Director, the top financial manager, and other financial staff? For example, the Board may have authority to approve fiscal policies and be required to review them annually and the Director of Operations may have the authority to approve expenses in accordance with the approved budget.

Definition: Internal controls are a set of policies and procedures to prevent deliberate or misguided use of funds for unauthorized purposes.

Questions to consider in developing Procedures:

- Who approves which elements of the fiscal systems (expenses, budgets, etc.)?
- When and how is approval documented?
- Who develops and approves the fiscal policies themselves?
- Who has the authority to change a fiscal policy, and how often are policies reviewed and changes approved?

Conflict of Interest

SAMPLE Policy: All employees and members of the Board of Directors are expected to use good judgment, to adhere to high ethical standards, and to act in such a manner as to avoid any actual or potential conflict of interest. A conflict of interest occurs when the personal, professional, or business interests of an employee or Board member conflict with the interests of the organization. Both the fact and the appearance of a conflict of interest should be avoided.

SAMPLE Procedures:

- Upon or before hire, election, or appointment each employee and Board member must provide a full written disclosure of all direct or indirect financial interests that could potentially result in a conflict of interest. Examples include employer, business, and other nonprofit affiliations, and those of family members or a significant other. This written disclosure will be kept on file and will be updated annually and as needed.
- Employees and Board members must disclose any interests in a proposed transaction or decision that may create a conflict of interest. After disclosure, the employee or Board member will not be permitted to participate in the transaction or decision.

Questions to consider:

- What constitutes a conflict of interest for the organization (i.e. funders/board members, clients/staff?)
- What are the consequences and remedies?
- What are the process and requirements for disclosing conflicts?
- How are conflicts identified and resolved and by whom?

SAMPLE NPO FISCAL POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Approved by the Board of Directors, DATE

- Should there be any dispute as to whether a conflict of interest exists:
 - The Executive Director shall determine whether a conflict of interest exists for an employee, and shall determine the appropriate response.
 - The Board of Directors shall determine whether a conflict of interest exists for the Executive Director or a member of the Board, and shall determine the appropriate response.

Segregation of Duties

SAMPLE Policy: The organization's financial duties are distributed among multiple people to help ensure protection from fraud and error. The distribution of duties aims for maximum protection of the organization's assets while also considering efficiency of operations.

Questions to consider in developing Procedures:

How are cash receipt and disbursement functions separated among various roles? Some key considerations include:

- Check signers should not be involved in expense approval or basic accounting procedures
- Someone outside of the accounting function should open and log all checks received

Physical Security

SAMPLE Policy: The organization maintains physical security of its assets to ensure that only people who are authorized have physical or indirect access to money, securities, real estate and other valuable property.

Questions to consider in developing Procedures:

- Where are blank checks stored? Are they locked up? Do they need to be signed out or accounted for by someone other than the person who cuts checks?
- Do you use passwords to prevent access to accounting software? How often are passwords changed and by whom?
- Where are cash and checks stored? Are bank deposits made regularly (at least weekly)?

Tip: How duties are segregated and how assets are kept physically secure are important controls that should be integrated into several policy areas. If this is done thoroughly, an organization may not need to address these areas as a separate policy.

Financial Planning & Reporting

The organization's financial statements are prepared in accordance with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). The presentation of the Financial Statements shall follow the recommendation of the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) No. 117, "Financial Statements of Not-For-Profit Organizations." Under GAAP, revenues are classified based on the existence or absence of donor-imposed restrictions. Accordingly, the net assets of the organization are classified as unrestricted, temporarily restricted and permanently restricted.

Budgeting Process

SAMPLE Policy: The organization's annual budget is prepared and approved annually for all departments. The budget is prepared by the Executive Director in conjunction with the Director of Operations and the Board Finance Committee. The budget is to be approved by the Board of Directors prior to the start of each fiscal year. The budget is revised during the year only if approved by the Board of Directors.

SAMPLE Procedures:

- The Executive Director will work together with the Director of Operations, Director of Development, and all program managers to ensure that the annual budget is an accurate reflection of programmatic and infrastructure goals for the coming year.
- The Director of Operations will ensure that the budget is developed using the organization's standard revenue recognition (p. X) and cost allocation (p. X) procedures.
- The Executive Director, Director of Operations, and the Board Treasurer will present a draft budget to the Finance Committee at least 60 days prior to the end of the fiscal year and at least 30 days prior to its submission to the full Board of Directors.
- The Finance Committee shall review and approve a recommended fiscal year budget and submit it for approval to the Board of Directors. The budget shall contain revenues and expenses forecasted by month. A chart describing monthly cash flow shall be included.
- The Board of Directors will review and approve the budget at its last meeting prior to the start of the fiscal year.

Questions to consider:

- Who is responsible for developing the organizational budget (Executive Director) and who is involved?
- Who approves it (Board of Directors) and when?
- Under what circumstances would the budget be modified and what are the procedures for that?
- Are there any other specific requirements (i.e. budgeting by month, including a cash flow projection)?
